with an opportunity for entering the labor market by attending a 13 week oversea internship program, 2 of which are in linguistic-cultural education and 11 are in business training, with a specific focus in the field of social services, socio-medicals, and education. Fifty percent of the positions are reserved to those who have previously carried out regional and national voluntary activities supported by the Municipality of Florence. Moreover, a minimum of fifty percent of the above mentioned posts is reserved to women in compliance with the gender equality law. At the end of the training session, participants will be able to work in educational or rehabilitation programs and effectively deal with issues involving children, families, the elderly, the disabled, prisoners, immigrants, nomads, and, generally speaking, all the disadvantaged, alienated or people at risk of poverty.
