

Transportation Risks Emergency instructions

In case of adverse weather conditions

1. The rules of the road are made with the goal of safety in mind. The most important parts of safe travel are prudence and common sense.
2. Make sure you have enough fuel to deal with any long stretches without a gas station. Not having enough can lead to a dangerous situation.
3. With a lot of rain, snow, or fog, the roads can go from bad to worse. Remember that your first goal is to get to your destination without harming yourself or others.
4. If you are traveling with children or elderly or sick people, make sure you have whatever they need to be comfortable because they have special needs.
5. Be advised of weather and traffic conditions by listening to the radio. The conditions of the road are constantly changing.
6. Have useful numbers for information and/or rescue. Sometimes you are in need of immediate help.
7. Unless absolutely necessary, postpone leaving until poor weather or traffic conditions have been resolved. It is better to not unnecessarily risk anything.
8. Make sure children are seated properly and have their seatbelts fastened. Their safety depends on your attention.
9. If there is a lot of snow, do not use your car if you have not installed chains or snow tires. The risk of losing control of the car is very high.
10. Keep animals in an enclosed space. In case of a crash, their behavior is unpredictable and dangerous.
